

10209 - He divorced her but did not send her the divorce papers

the question

Her husband divorced her and the 'iddah came to an end, but she cannot get the divorce papers from the Islamic centre or get any proof of the divorce from the courts in the city to which she has moved. Is it permissible for her to remarry?

Detailed answer

We put this question to Shaykh 'Abd-Allaah ibn Jibreel, may Allaah preserve him, who answered as follows:

She should ask for an annulment of the marriage in the city where she has moved to, on the grounds that her husband is absent and is not sending her any money to live on. This annulment will take the place of a divorce. And Allaah knows best.