

13466 - Ruling on women wearing lipstick

the question is putting on lipstick haram or resembling the non-Muslim's (tahsaboh bil kufar), please I wish to know this answer, because allot of Ulama say's that its haram, because maybe it has pig's fat, but what if I know for sure that it does not have animal fat in it, may I use it? Ofcourse i would not go out with it, i know its haram in that case. But at home, to adore myself.

So my question is is it HARAM to wear LIPSTICK?

Detailed answer

Using cosmetics such as lipstick and blusher is OK, especially for a married woman."

Fataawa

Shaykh Ibn 'Uthaymeen, part 2, p. 828 .

If a woman does not appear wearing that in front of strange men (non-mahrams) and it does not contain any impure substances such as pig extracts, and it is not harmful to the skin, then it is permissible, especially in order to beautify oneself for one's husband. The basic principle concerning adornments is that they are permissible. And Allaah knows best.
